In-House Training Courses

Why not have one of our courses run at your own workplace?

Economical - In-house courses are charged by the day, not per delegate, therefore you pay one rate regardless of the number of people you wish to train (the maximum depends on the course chosen). Our rate for one day is £2750 exc vat, £4000 exc vat for two days. If you book more than one in-house course, rates can be negotiated.

Flexible and Efficient - Not only is in-house training value for money but it also reduces the time staff have to be away from the office and the timings are completely up to you. It can also give you and your team the opportunity to talk openly and ask questions and receive responses that specifically relate to and benefit your company.

All our courses can be delivered as in-house training and can be adapted to the specific needs of your company or organisation.
